

Open Bioinformatician position in the Thoracic Lung Cancer Unit H120/CNIO

A Bioinformatician position is available in the laboratory of Dr. Luis Paz-Ares at the Institute of Research Hospital 12 de Octubre/CNIO, in Madrid.

We are looking for a highly motivated bioinformatician with strong interest in experimental and clinical-translational oncology. Qualifications: Master´s or PhD in Bioinformatics. Candidates should have experience in the development of new computational methods for the analysis of tumor sequencing big-data, and in the design and implementation of analysis pipelines for various multi-omics data. Candidates are expected to have experience in the use of regular control and statistics software, showing skills for reproducibility and visualization of results for customized analyses.

Location: Institute of Research Hospital 12 de Octubre and Spanish National Cancer Research Center (CNIO) located in Madrid.

To apply: submit a complete CV including details of training, research lines, conferences and publications to: José María Gracia (josemariagracia.imas12@h12o.es), Raquel López (raloam.imas12@h12o.es) y M^a Angeles Santamaría (masant42@ucm.es)